FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

WHO CAN PARTICIPATE AND WHAT IS PROVIDED?

Just about everyone can go whitewater rafting. No experience is necessary! It does require some paddling and you WILL get wet. Participants must be in good health and have a chest size of no larger than 60 inches. The state law requires that you must be 12 years of age to go rafting on the Ocoee River. We will provide all necessary equipment: PFD's (personal floatation device), helmets, and paddles. You will also receive a detailed river briefing covering safety issues and the risks involved. Transportation will also be provided to and from the river gorge.

HOW LONG ARE THE TRIPS?

The Middle Ocoee River trip is 5 miles long and takes about 2 hours to run that section of river. You will receive instructions and safety information and also have some time to practice with your guide before departure on the river. There is also a short drive to and from the river. Plan to spend a total of 3 to 3.5 hours with us for this trip. The Full River trip is 10 miles and takes about 5 hours to complete. You'll need to plan about 6 to 6.5 hours with us for this trip. Our Full River combo trips also include a riverside lunch.

HOW MUCH OF THE TRIP IS WHITEWATER?

The Middle Ocoee is almost continuous whitewater with about 90% of that section being whitewater with over 20 major rapids. The upper Ocoee provides an additional 13 rapids, is 70% whitewater and includes the famous 1996 Olympic Whitewater Course.

WHAT IF IT RAINS?

Trips go rain or shine. Of course everyone loves a beautiful sunny day, but that doesn't stop us from running the river. You're going to get wet anyway! Rafting can also be the perfect rainy day activity. On cool days, we provide splash jackets free of charge.

DO YOU HAVE SELF-BAILING RAFTS? AND WHAT SIZE ARE THE RAFTS?

Yes, our entire fleet consists of self-bailing rafts that are 13-14 feet in length and specifically used for whitewater use.

ARE GUIDES REQUIRED? HOW MANY PEOPLE ARE IN A RAFT?

Yes, guides are required on the Ocoee and every raft will have one. The rafts are designed to hold 7-8 people; however we usually fill them up with 4-6 rafters plus a guide.

ARE GROUP DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE?

Yes, we offer group rates every day. The more you bring, the bigger the discount. Please see our rate schedule or contact our office.

HOW ARE THE RAPIDS RATED?

Rapids are rated on a difficulty scale between 1 and 6 (shown as Roman numerals I - VI) which describes the difficulty and danger level. Class I rapids are the easiest while a class VI rapid is the most dangerous. The scale is not to be used in considering the fun factor of a river run. The Ocoee River is rated as a class III & IV river. It was recently named America's favorite whitewater run!

HOW COLD IS THE WATER?

The Ocoee River feeds from a lake upstream and is fairly warm all year round. The dams are mostly "top fed" meaning the water comes off the surface of the lake to feed the riverbed below. That allows warmer water to flow instead of pulling from the bottom of the dam, where sunlight doesn't often reach. However, the spring months and fall sometimes get a little cooler depending on rainfall and outside air temps.

HOW SHOULD I DRESS?

In warm weather, wear short or bathing suits and a t-shirt. In cool weather, bring a wool, fleece or polyester top and insulating pants. Under Armor-type materials work great! NO COTTON on cooler days as it has no insulating value. We also provide splash jackets free of charge on cool days to wear over your clothing. We also recommend wearing shoes with backs or a heel strap. Flip-flops, Crocs and similar type shoes will work, but not the best for this sort of activity and may come off if you fall out or decide to jump in and swim.

These are just some of the many questions we get asked all of the time. Should you have any questions that aren't answered here, please call our office. Our staff will be glad to help! 1-800-451-7238

GROUP LEADER'S CHECK LIST

- Call Cherokee Rafting and reserve a date, time and approximate number of rafters in your group. Credit card commitment due in order to hold reservation or you can mail us a check if approved by the office staff.
- Post the sign-up sheet with a deadline for sign-ups.
- Collect the full amount of money from everyone who signed up. This makes them accountable for their own spot on the trip.
- Call Cherokee Rafting with updates on any adjustments to the group size at anytime. You are responsible for any changes to your reservation.
- More than 10 days prior to your trip date, double check with everyone who signed up and call Cherokee Rafting with any cancellations for a 100% refund. Any changes made less than 10 days before your trip date are subject to a $10.00 cancellation fee per person. Unfortunately, NO refunds are given for cancellations made less than 24 hours of your scheduled trip.
- About 3-7 days before your trip, check with everyone again and notify us of any changes or let us know if you have any additional reservations. Things always change! This helps us better prepare for your arrival.
- Make sure everyone signs our liability waiver and returns it to you. Everyone MUST sign a waiver. If they are a minor (under 18 years old), they will need a parent/guardian's signature also on the form. If they are an adult (18+), only one signature is required.
- Plan to arrive on your trip date at least 30 minutes prior to your trip time. Present all liability waivers and any final payments to Cherokee Rafting.

TIPS:

- Have everyone pay you in full when they sign up. For Group Discounts to apply, you will need to make one group payment or two if you paid a deposit. Anyone paying individually will be charged the individual rate.
- Do not make a reservation for anyone who doesn't give you his or her money. This takes the financial commitment off of you as the group leader.
- Call Cherokee Rafting even if 1 person wants to cancel prior to the cancellation deadline.
- If the cancellation deadline has passed to receive a refund, the person wanting to cancel should find a replacement. This should not be the group leader's responsibility. Remember, all reserved spots will be charged.
- If your group number changes, you will be charged the rate per person in that discount bracket. This rate may be different than what you were originally quoted.

THINGS TO DO IN THE OCOEE AREA

The Ocoee Scenic Byway

The first-ever U.S. Forest Service scenic byway was designated in the Cherokee National Forest in Polk County. It includes a portion of U.S. Hwy. 64 (historic Old Copper Road) and Forest Service Road 77. About half of the U.S. Hwy 64 section passes through the Ocoee River Gorge. Forest Service Road 77 turns off U.S. Hwy 64 and winds its way up Chilhowee Mountain following the crest of the mountain. Within this drive are rock bluffs, mountain peaks, Parksville Lake and the Ocoee River, all of which offer visitors magnificent views of natural beauty. The scenic byway also offers access to boating, swimming and historic sites related to the Civil War and Cherokee Indian culture.

As you approach the Cherokee National Forest on Hwy. 64 heading east from Cleveland, Tn., the view includes Big Frog and Chilhowee mountains and the Big Frog Wilderness area. Entering the forest, you see an overlook with a magnificent view of the TVA dam that creates Parksville Lake (Lake Ocoee). In the background is Sugarloaf Mountain's sharp peak, a prominent landmark readily visible for many miles from nearly every direction. Sugarloaf Mountain Park, located just below the dam, offers a place to stop for a picnic, dip your feet into the river, and learn from interpretive signs. The park also has a model of the Olympic whitewater race course.

As you leave the dam site, several sightseeing pull-offs offer incredible views of Lake Ocoee with the Cherokee National Forest proudly painted as a backdrop. The 1,950 acre lake is entirely encompassed by National Forest land.

Continuing on the route is Parksville Beach, a mecca for swimmers. Many nooks and crannies around the shores of the lake provide colorful picture-taking opportunities.

Between mileposts 7 and 8 is the Ocoee Ranger District office, which serves as a welcome center with information, brochures and maps.

Mac Point swimming area is nestled in a cove between mileposts 9 and 10, just before the highway enters the Ocoee River Gorge. In the gorge, from April through October, there is an area of river recreation delight where whitewater rafters and kayakers take full advantage of the fun on the Ocoee River. The scene is dominated with views of the river and rock cliffs.

Just beyond the rafting exit point (the "takeout") is the historic TVA #2 Powerhouse. The Ocoee flume line, which carries the river water to the powerhouse, snakes its way around the bluffs of the Ocoee River Gorge for nearly five miles. Through a special arrangement with TVA, power generation is halted to allow water releases for whitewater rafting during the summer months.

Approaching the upper end of the gorge between mileposts 17 and 18 is the boat launching area (the "put-in") used by the rafting outfitters. It is here that a "stick dam" is seen, an engineering marvel where the flume begins.

More scenic beauty abounds with a view of both the Big Frog and Little Frog Wilderness areas and the upper segment of the Ocoee River. This section is normally dry because the water is used for producing electricity. (Upstream water is diverted to a tunnel that goes through the mountain to powerhouse No. 3) There are limited water releases for recreation on the upper river.

The spot where the river veers away from the highway was the site of whitewater canoe and kayak slalom competition during the 1996 Olympic Games hosted by Atlanta. The Ocoee Whitewater Center remains to serve as visitor center and recreation center.

Finally, at milepost 22 is the Boyd Gap Overlook, a perfect ending to a trip that abounds in "oohs" and "ahhs," for it is here that you get an eye-popping view of the splendor of the Cherokee National Forest.

Along Forest Service Rd. 77

You can turn onto FS 77 off U.S. 64 about 200 yards east of the entrance to the Forest Service Ranger Station. A comfortable but steady climb begins immediately, leading you through a high-quality forest landscape. Between two and two and a half miles up the mountain are two overlooks that offer breath-taking views across the Tennessee Valley and down to Ocoee Lake more than 600 feet below.

A climb of another mile brings you to one of the most magnificent views in East Tennessee. From here, the Blue Ridge province, Tennessee Valley and Cumberland Plateau are all within view.

Just to the south the entire length of Parksville Lake is visible. Further to the south are the mountains in Big Frog and Cohutta wildernesses; and to the southwest is the metropolis of Chattanooga. On to the west is the pastoral Tennessee Valley. One could have seen great armies moving through the valley toward some of the most decisive conflicts of the Civil War 125 years ago.

After driving six miles, you reach a 1900-foot mountain plateau where several overlooks offer views to the west. Just down the road is a Civil War interpretive site where evidence of an 1865 skirmish and small Confederate campsite was found.

A short distance further, the seven-mile paved road section ends at Chilhowee Recreation Area, which offers camping, swimming and hiking.

Hiking Trails

A number of trails exist in the Cherokee National Forest near the Ocoee River. Trails range from easy to difficult: some are heavily traveled while others offer more solitude. Some of the trails have remained unchanged for nearly 100 years and average 1 mile to over 15 miles in length. The most popular trails are the Benton Falls Trail in the Chilhowee Recreation Area and the Tanasi Trail System at the Ocoee Whitewater Center. Be sure to ask our manager about the best hiking trails for your group and which waterfalls to explore.

Swimming

Day use swimming areas are available along Parksville Lake. Chilhowee Recreation Area offers a swimming area with a bathhouse on top of Chilhowee Mountain at Lake McKamy.
